

SASFAA Summer Workshop Guide

Last Updated: April 2018

Summer Workshop

The vice president is responsible for planning and conducting the summer workshop.

Workshop Staff

Workshop staff generally includes:

- Vice president
- Curriculum coordinator
- Instructors
- Site coordinator
- Business Partner(s)

The vice president, in consultation with the president, will select the faculty and curriculum coordinator. Recommendations will be solicited from the Professional Development Committee. The vice president shall make every effort to select instructors and other workshop staff representative of the entire SASFAA region in terms of school type and state, sector and diversity. All workshop staff must be active members of SASFAA.

Workshop Site Selection

The current vice president shall recommend a workshop site to be used by his/her successor. The executive board shall review the recommendation. In this way, the association is able to secure the most attractive sites that meet site specifications or criteria.

If a workshop site is satisfactory and meets the association's needs, serious consideration shall be given to using that site for more than one year.

The vice president should consider sites in all of the nine SASFAA states.

The vice president should research potential sites and coordinate onsite visit. During the visit, the vice president or designee should meet with the site coordinator and view the facilities that will be used.

If the vice president is recommending a site for his/her successor, site recommendations should be made no later than the third board meeting of the year (generally held in conjunction with the annual meeting.) It is preferable that the recommendation be made at the second meeting of the year.

Workshop Site Specifications

At a minimum, a workshop site shall meet these criteria:

1. Accessible location. It is preferable that the workshop site be accessible via an airport that has jet service. "Regional" jet service would be considered acceptable.
2. On campus housing to accommodate 125-175 people – including workshop staff and participants. Suite- style accommodations with semi-private bathrooms are preferable, but other accommodations should be considered if the site meets other criteria.
3. On campus dining should be available to accommodate workshop participants and staff.

4. Classroom facilities in adequate number and size. Generally:
 - a. Individual classrooms that accommodate up to 20-25 students – number of classrooms determined by the total size of the workshop.
 - b. Auditorium or large lecture room that accommodates up to 125-175 students.
 - c. Computer lab
 - d. Conference room or classroom that can serve as conference headquarters.

The classrooms should be equipped with up-to-date technology. At a minimum the classes should have projector, computer and internet access.

5. Adequate facilities to support social activities outside the classroom.
6. Adequate facilities for registration, check-in, and check-out activities.
7. Facilities should meet ADA requirements so all people can participate.

Recommended Workshop Schedule:

- Friday - Workshop staff arrive
- Saturday - Workshop staff prepare for week; registration for early arrivals
- Sunday – Registration; workshop begins in late afternoon; ice breaker activities
- Monday through Thursday – class activities and social activities
- Thursday - banquet celebration
- Friday – Workshop ends by lunch; workshop staff has final wrap-up meeting

Job Descriptions for Workshop Staff

Curriculum Coordinator Job Description

The curriculum coordinator is key to a successful summer new aid officers' workshop. In addition to providing the curriculum for the workshop, he/she guides the instructors in classroom instruction, giving them tips and training as required. The curriculum coordinator also provides the curriculum and selects the instructors for the one-day workshop held in conjunction with the annual conference – the February prior to the summer workshop for which he/she is responsible.

The curriculum coordinator is expected to arrive at the summer workshop site two days prior to the beginning of the workshop and remain through the close of the workshop.

He/she is specifically responsible for the following activities:

- Developing agenda for workshop and classroom activities, in conjunction with vice president.
- Developing curriculum for workshop – including slides for presentations, handouts, scripts for instructors, as needed, case studies, etc., ensuring that information is accurate and up to date.
- Preparing instructor and participant notebooks for printing.
- In conjunction with vice president, pairing instructors into teaching teams.
- Guiding faculty in classroom instruction, providing tips and training in presentation skills as necessary.
- Correcting any instructional errors, presentation problems, etc. as they arise.
- Maintaining database of participants as they register – to include name, institution, address, voice, fax, email, title, length of time in position, length of time in the field, self-assessment score, and classroom assignment.
- Placing participants in appropriate classrooms, based on years of experience as provided on the registration application.

- Conducting, in conjunction with vice president, meetings with instructors and business partners during the annual conference, planning retreat, during the workshop.
- Serving as a resource for instructors and participants.
- Encouraging participants in classroom and social activities, helping them to feel welcome and comfortable.
- Other activities as requested by the vice president.

Instructor Job Description

The workshop instructor is a vital element in a successful summer new aid officers' workshop. He/she provides classroom instruction and becomes a mentor to the participants. This position also serves as the instructors for one-day workshop held in conjunction with the annual conference.

The instructor is expected to attend a planning retreat in the spring prior to the workshop. The instructor is expected to arrive at the summer workshop site two days prior to the beginning of the workshop and remain through the close of the workshop. The instructor is also expected to be a current member of SASFAA and their respective state association.

The instructor is specifically responsible for the following activities:

- Reviewing curriculum materials provided. This should be done prior to arrival at the workshop.
- Reviewing case studies as requested by the curriculum coordinator.
- Working closely with teaching partner to make the classroom experience of the highest quality possible.
- Participating in training provided by the vice president, curriculum director, or other, designed to enhance presentation skills.
- Providing supplemental materials, suggestions, etc. to the curriculum director and vice president to ensure the highest quality workshop possible.
- Encouraging participants in classroom and social activities, helping them to feel welcome and comfortable.
- Other activities as requested by the vice president and/or curriculum director.
- Promote the new aid workshop within their respective state in conjunction with the vice president.

Business Partners Job Description

Business partners help set the tone of the social activities for the workshop. They also run errands as required, freeing the vice president, curriculum director, and instructors to take care of other aspects of the workshop.

The business partner is expected to arrive at the workshop site two days prior to the beginning of the workshop and remain through the close of the workshop.

The business partner is specifically responsible for the following activities:

- Meeting and greeting participants.
- Assisting instructors with move-in.
- Assisting participants with registration and move-in.
- Distributing "goody bags" and/or others items for instructors and/or participants (contents to be determined by vice president)
- Encouraging participants in classroom and social activities, helping them to feel welcome and comfortable.
- Transporting faculty, vice president, curriculum coordinator, and other guests to/from airport.

- Transporting faculty, vice president, curriculum coordinator, other guests, and participants to/from appropriate facilities in emergency situations or other “approved” activities. (For example, transporting someone to the pharmacy for a prescription.)
- Stocking social area with food and drink as required.
- Photographing classes, workshop participants, instructors, etc. and having pictures developed for distribution by the end of the workshop.
- Conducting team building activities.
- Printing materials on site – taking originals, picking up copies, assisting with distribution, etc.
- Writing and printing daily newsletter during workshop.
- If necessary, assisting the vice president in making sure that vendors registered for the workshop do not market their products during the workshop.
- Other activities as requested by the vice president and/or curriculum coordinator.

Site Coordinator Job Description

A strong site coordinator is critical to the success of the workshop.

He/she attends the planning retreat prior to the workshop and is available two days prior to the workshop until the workshop end.

He/she is specifically responsible for:

- Providing local arrangements assistance for the summer workshop.
- Working closely with the vice president and the curriculum coordinator in the planning and execution of the summer workshop.
- Acting as the liaison between the host site and the vice president.
- Assisting in making arrangements for workshop accommodations and services.
- Organizing transportation to/from the airport and the workshop site.
- Securing on-site volunteers or paid staff (not paid by the association) to assist with the workshop.
- Other activities as requested by the vice president and/or curriculum coordinator.
- Videotaping PJ skit and putting together video for showing at banquet.

Expenses

The association covers travel and other workshop-related expenses for the site coordinator, curriculum coordinator, instructors, vice president and vice president-elect, and other non-business partner staff. The business partners provide their own transportation to and from the workshop. Room and board is provided for all workshop staff – during the planning retreat and the workshop itself.

Suggested Budgets and Cost Containments

- Class decorations - $30
- Coordinate with conference chair to order participant bags and name badges/holders.
- Develop a NAOW generic t-shirt that can be used multiple years.
- Business partners prepare staff meals prior to the beginning of the workshop
- Monitor and control printing cost (participants manual)

Promotional Piece and Registration

The vice president shall prepare promotional pieces for publication on paper or the Internet about the workshops, the one-day workshop and the summer workshop. The vice president shall coordinate the online registration forms, in conjunction with the electronic services chair. The vice president shall ensure the general NAOW information is available on the web year round. There should be a dedicated link from the initial web page.

Materials about the workshop shall include (but are not necessarily limited to): (sample enclosed)

1. Site
2. Dates and times
3. Cost
4. Accommodations – lodging, meals – what is provided and what the participant needs to bring with him/her
5. Activities related to the workshop
6. Deadlines for registration and fee payment
7. Tentative agenda and topics
8. Travel Information – airport, campus map, etc

Directory of Participants

Preferably before the end of the workshop, the vice president provides a directory to participants and staff. Information should include: name, address, voice telephone number, fax number, e-mail address, and class designation. If the vice president is unable to provide this directory before the end of the workshop, it is to be provided to participants.

Certificate of Achievement/Recognition

The vice president shall provide a certificate of achievement/recognition to each participant. The vice president should sign certificates. The president and/or curriculum director can also sign the certificate.

Contract

Contracts will be signed by instructors, site coordinator, and curriculum coordinator. See appendix X.
